

Comex Continuous Gold Two hour chart - September 30

This big down leg is still dominating the short term price chart - the high of this bar will serve as price resistance as gold moves higher - it will have to be convincingly bettered for the next leg higher to commence expect some selling here

Initial resistance

995 is providing some decent support on dips thus far

*Stronger support down at this level
This will need to hold to prevent a further drop down towards $970*